Does your dog dream of chasing and hunting squirrels? Does your dog perk up every time something fluffy runs by? Allow them to live their dream and to have some fun by coming to Go to Ground class!

GTG is designed to test the hunting ability of dogs bred to work underneath the earth (terriers, dachshunds, etc.)

Using wooden tunnels, GTG creates an "underground" world for your dog where they must execute twists, turns, and surface changes - all in the dark! They follow the tunnel to the end and find their quarry (usually a rat!)

The reward is finding their quarry and being allowed to work at it (barking, digging, etc.)

Please Note: The rats used are well-loved pets and are kept safe from the dogs at ALL TIMES! This class is ideal for your city-living, squirrel-chasing dog to explore what they were bred to do!

Open to all dogs who will fit in a 9" tunnel (you will be surprised how much bigger dogs will squeeze to get in!) this class promises to be incredibly fun and exciting for your dog!

This class is taught by Lisa Benoit; owner of 4 crazy Jack Russell Terriers who have competed for the past 5 years in sanctioned JRTCA terrier trials. Lisa has taught GTG to many terriers and their owners. "I believe in training these dogs correctly so they aren't afraid to go into the tunnel. They simply follow their instincts and want to 'get that rat'."

Spectators welcome!
